Safe Satisfying Sexuality

How Does it Work?

What it is!

Engaging with an Adult Intimacy, Relationships and Community Provider is a rewarding experience that can help:

- Improve your confidence and self esteem
- Foster your ability to find and maintain meaningful adult relationships
- Provide resources and support on maintaining safe, satisfying sex after an acquired disability
- Educate you on safe sex practices
- Practice social skills
- Find sexual satisfaction when no other options are available.

What it isn't!

It is not the same as paying for intimacy privately. You cannot:

- Dictate what sexual services are provided
- Ask for services that are not necessary and reasonable
- Receive services without an initial consultation
- Receive services without an advanced booking

All clients undergo screening to ensure services are right for you.

Getting Started

You must first consider the following before starting your journey:

- Are your current NDIS goals suitable to justify this service?
- Do you have funds available in the line item used?
- Will your plan manager approve an invoice for these services?

Answered YES to these questions?

GREAT! You're almost ready to start!
